PECK FOOD SERVICE FOOD SHOW

Your Guide to the Food Show

Register ahead, skip the line, and know where you are going.

For customers attending the show

The show's website

https://billregan.pythonanywhere.com

Updated October 2026

Before you come: register online

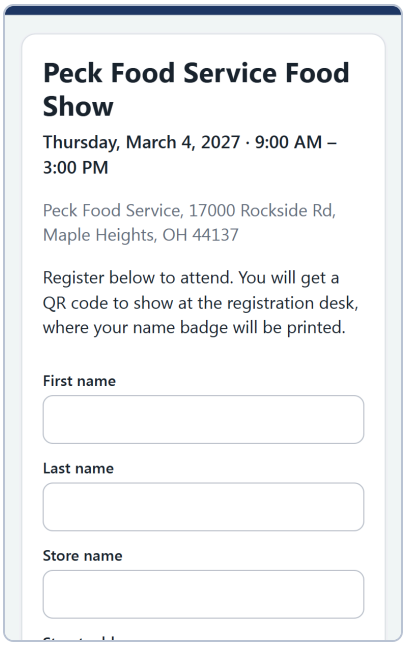

Registering takes about two minutes and gets you a QR code that makes check-in quick: the registration desk scans it and prints your name badge on the spot.

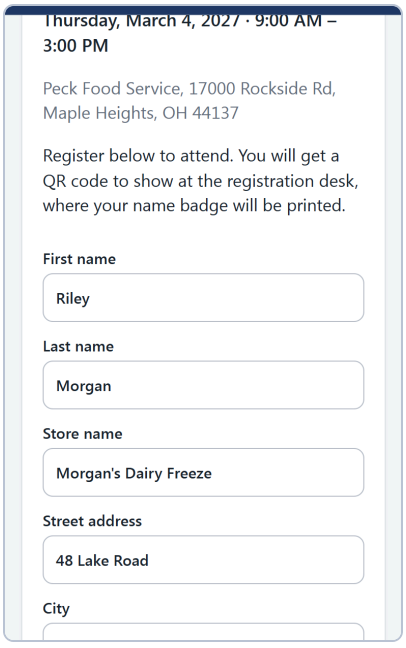

What you will need

- Your name, and your store name and street address (city, state and ZIP code).
- A phone number and an email address. Your confirmation comes to the email, and the desk may use the phone if there is a question.
- Your Peck customer number if you know it (it is on your invoice). It is optional.

Register

1. On your phone or computer, go to https://billregan.pythonanywhere.com/register. The same form is on the Peck website.
2. Fill in your name, store name, address, phone and email. Every box except the customer number is required.
3. Is anyone else from your store coming? Tap + Add another person and type their first and last name. Each person gets their own badge. They need only a name, because they share your store.
4. Read the short note above the button and tap Register.

Figure 1. The registration page. · Figure 2. The form filled in. · Figure 3. Adding a colleague, then Register.

> Why we ask for everything. Your address and customer number stay with Peck Food Service and are never given to exhibitors. See “Exhibitors and your information” on the last page.

Your confirmation and QR code

As soon as you tap Register you will see your confirmation page. If email is set up for the show, a link to it is also emailed to you.

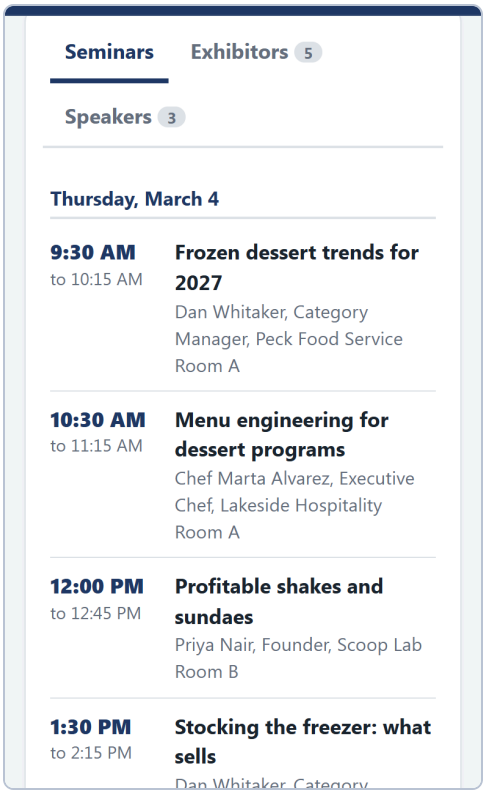

Figure 4. The confirmation page: one QR code for you and one for each person you added.

1. Save it. Take a screenshot of the page, or keep the email. You can also tap Print this page.
2. Each QR code has a short check-in ID beside it (for example XSXT-6WUD). If your phone is ever dead, the desk can look you up by name or ID instead.
3. Make sure everyone you registered can show their code. A group can show their own screens, or one person can bring the confirmation for the group.

> Note. Didn't get the email? Check your spam folder. You don't need the email: the confirmation page you saw is enough, and the desk can always look you up by name.

Planning your visit

Your registration page also lists everything happening at the show. Tap the tabs to see Seminars, Exhibitors and Speakers.

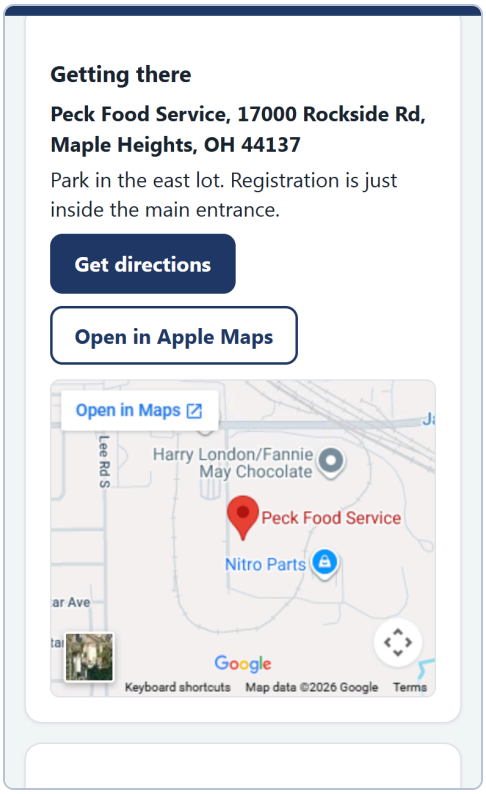

Figure 5. The schedule, with seminar times, speakers and rooms. · Figure 6. Getting there: the address, a map, and buttons for directions.

Getting there

The Getting there box shows the address and any parking notes. Tap Get directions and your phone opens its map app with a route from where you are.

Finding your way inside

If the show has posted a floor plan, it is under the directions and on your confirmation page. Tap it to open it full size. Registration is marked on it.

When you arrive

1. Go to the registration desk, just inside the main entrance.
2. Hold up your QR code (turn your phone brightness up) so the staff member can scan it. If you can't, just tell them your name and store.
3. Your name badge prints in moments. It is a folded card with your name on both sides, so it reads either way round. Put it on your lanyard and wear it where people can see it.
4. Enjoy the show: tour the booths, attend seminars, and ask exhibitors about their products.

If you didn't register ahead

No problem. The desk can register you on the spot. They will ask for the same details as the online form (name, store, address, phone, email), so a business card helps.

Lost, damaged or changed

Ask at the registration desk and they will print a new badge. They can also fix a misspelled name.

Exhibitors and your information

Exhibitors at the show scan visitors' badges to remember who they talked to. Here is exactly what happens:

	What an exhibitor gets when they scan your badge
They receive	Your name, store name, email address and phone number.
They do not receive	Your street address or your Peck customer number. Those stay with Peck Food Service.
Your choice	A scan only happens when you let them scan your badge. If you would rather not be scanned, just tell the exhibitor.

By registering, you agree that exhibitors who scan your badge receive the details above. This is also written on the registration form.

Quick answers

Question	Answer
Do I have to register ahead?	No, but it is faster and you get your QR code. The desk can register you at the show.
I made a mistake on the form.	Tell the registration desk; they can correct it. You don't need to register again.
Who do I ask for help at the show?	Anyone at the registration desk, or any staff member wearing a Peck badge.

Questions before the show? Contact: _____ Phone: _____